Dear Mr. Barnes:

This responds to your	inquiry of 7 July concerning claims about a manuscript she claims was STAT returned with pages missin	g following a prepublication review by the Central Intelligenc	e Agency.

You may recall that this matter was brought to our mutual attention once before, in April 1983, with other allegations STAT Tam enclosing a copy of the Agency's There STAT previous response to dated 17 March 1983. is nothing further to add except to assure you again that the Agency neither made deletions from, nor removed any pages therefrom. The manuscript was returned intact as we had received it. We have double-checked our files and have found this to be the case. Nothing was omitted or left behind.

I hope this will assure you that there is no basis for current allegations, the motivation for which STAT remains something of a mystery to us. We remain prepared to continue to cooperate with the author's widow, STAT to the fullest extent possible, but know of nothing STAT else to be done at this juncture.

Sincerely,

15/Chamles A. Bright

CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE AGENCY c/o White House Washington, D.C.

Personal: Director William Casey

Dear Mr. Casey:

For many months now, your Agency has had under scrutiny	_
the dissertation/book manuscript of the late	STAT
I was told that approval of the	STAT manuscript for submission to the university (for the Ph.D. degree) would take no more than 30-60 days. However, many	· months have passed, and now	STAT
simply refuses to answer any telephone call from me. Puzzling, don't you think?	STAT

The manuscript in question is about the Phoenix Program and I cannot imagine why there should be any question at all as to its approval. Not only are all the primary sources (MACV) declassified but the tenor of the interpretation is highly favorable to the Agency and all of colleagues. STAT He was a very loyal, faithful member of your outrit.

The only possible explanation I can come up with is that, while all primary documents are declassified by order of the Congress (1972-1982), nonetheless they are unavailable to the ordinary person-because they are well hidden in the recesses of the Pentagon. I wonder, though, what congressmen would think of this method of defeating the spirit and intent of the Law.

By now, you are wondering what I have to do with the manuscript. I acted as editor for during his last tortured year. He died of cancer in August, 1982. In fact, only the manuscript kept him alive, and I promised him that I would not let it be buried in the neglect so common to bureaucracy. I have no material interest whatsoever, only a moral obligation to a man now dead.

I hope that you will take some interest in this matter, for it will show far more respect for "one of your own" than the formulae of burial at Arlington.

I realize that in writing you I endanger my own future, but I think you will find that my patriotism is quite verifiable.

As I indicated to you in our telephone conversation during the week of 10 January 1983. the revisions prepared for the manuscript raised some issues which I believed the rublications keview Board should review before any final action was taken vis-a-vis the manuscript. At its meeting of 18 January 1983, the Board reviewed the revisions as well as its original objections to the manuscript. After some discussion, the Board determined to withdraw all of its original objections and approve the manuscript for publication without any changes. Thus, there is no need for any revisions. Accordingly, I am returning the manuscript to you herewith as originally submitted. You are free to submit it to American University or disseminate it in any other way you wish.

Again, on behalf of the Agency, let me apologize for the delay in this matter and thank you for your concern in submitting the manuscript and your continued patience during the review process. I know that the process was lengthy but, in view of the final result, I hope it was worth the wait.

Best wishes for success in your efforts.
